Key Risks

The Fund will enter into a derivative with a counterparty. If the counterparty fails to make payments (for example, it becomes insolvent) this may result in your investment suffering a loss.

The value of an investment in shares will depend on a number of factors including, but not limited to, market and economic conditions, sector, geographical region and political events.

The value of your investment may go down as well as up and past performance does not predict future returns. Investor capital may be at risk up to a total loss. The Fund is exposed to market movements in a single country or region which may be adversely affected by political or economic developments, government action or natural events that do not affect a fund investing in broader markets. The following is applicable if you subscribe for or settle shares in a different currency than the fund or share-class currency: Be aware of currency risk. You will receive payments in a different currency, so the final return you will get depend on the exchange rate between the two currencies.

The Fund is exposed to less economically developed economies (known as emerging markets) which involve greater risks than well developed economies. Political unrest and economic downturn may be more likely and will affect the value of your investment.
